President's Message

Dear Centronians,

When I accepted the presidency, one of my more pressing concerns is membership. Retention is not so much an issue as we rarely lose member but recruitment is. August is membership month and we have to face our membership issues early in our term.

Based on history, our club would be able to add a few members, one or up to three members in a year, but it would never be more than 20% increase, which is this year's target.

But truly, our club is blessed with kind hearted people who makes new members feel important and so we grew this year.

Early July, we had two new members and early August, we inducted three more. One more and it is target achieved!!

Thank you to Centronians who sponsored new members especially to our Membership Director IPP Michelle Baldemor who continues to charm new members.

Centronians have had the chance to bond with the new members and they immediately gelled. Truly amazed how things are with the club's membership and am hoping that recruitment and retention continues to have positive outcomes.

Yours in Rotary,

Fellowship Meetings

Technically, fellowship means a “friendly association, especially with people who share one's interests”. Though this definition applies in rotary, fellowship meetings with rotary is a friendly association and a lot more. It is highly anticipated as it usually a camaraderie meet, a teambuilding as you would term it in the corporate world.

Probably, one of the greatest wish of a rotary president is to have a club that works well together. Camaraderie doesn't mean that all members are best friends and socialize on weekends or every free time they get . Instead, the idea is to build a level of trust, respect, and affection that enables easy and productive relationships.

The camaraderie that a rotary president would applaud is not the idealistic type that everyone likes everyone. Instead, this camaraderie wish is the willingness to communicate effectively, question authority, effectively solve problems, negotiate conflict, assist one another, and work together effectively and efficiently.

Truly, a club cannot produce good results without a sense of camaraderie. But however way we put it, this is a difficult task not just for the president but to all the club members. Hopefully, the fellowship meetings will do wonders to make this difficult task a possibility.

Value of Rotary volunteering

That Rotary members log a lot of volunteer hours should come as no surprise to anyone familiar with the organization. But a new report just released by Johns Hopkins University provides a powerful look at the impact of all those volunteer hours.

The special report prepared for Rotary International by the Johns Hopkins Center for Civil Society Studies found that Rotary members had volunteered a total of 5.8 million hours within a four-week survey period. Extrapolating those results over an entire year, the report gave a conservative estimate of nearly 47 million hours of volunteer effort generated by Rotary members in a typical year.

The report then analyzed the economic impact of all those hours and estimated the value conservatively at $850 million a year, if communities had to pay for the services that Rotary volunteers provide.

Rotary, with the help of Johns Hopkins University, is the first global service organization to conduct an empirical analysis of its volunteer's impact using an internationally sanctioned definition of volunteer work. The authors of the report noted in their conclusion that at each stop, the analysis had chosen the most conservative estimates.

Cosmos Segbefia, a member of the Rotary Club of Sekondi-Takoradi, and Derrick Ababio Kwarteng, of Global Communities, assist with the construction of a borehole in the Western Region of Ghana in 2018. A report by Johns Hopkins University prepared for Rotary International estimated that Rotary members provide about 47 million hours of volunteer effort a year at an estimated value of $850 million.

ROTARY CORNER

DIVERSIFYING YOUR CLUB

Diversity refers to inclusion of people from many groups. It is a source of innovation, as well as one of Rotary's core values.

Having members with different backgrounds and viewpoints gives your club a broader understanding of the community, its problems, and possible solutions. Strive to have a group of members who offer the club diverse skills, talents, and experiences. If your club includes different ethnicities, ages, and cultures, as well as a good gender balance, it will have greater capacity to serve your community and communities around the world. Equally important is creating a culture of inclusion, where these differences are respected, supported, and valued.

OUTCOME

Conduct this diversity assessment and act on its results to:

Raise your members' awareness of the diversity in your community • Build member support for increasing diversity • Diversify your club to better represent the working professionals in your community

GETTING ORGANIZED

Dedicate time in a series of club meetings to conducting each step of your member diversity assessment. Choose a facilitator (the membership committee chair, a committee member, or the club president) who is comfortable talking about diversity and passionate about the need for greater diversity in your club. Or, consider inviting a diversity and inclusion leader to talk to your club. This activity should involve all club members so that they all have a stake in the process. Greater inclusion will increase awareness and support for future action.

Reflections

"One Cannot Achieve the Pinnacles of Service unless one experiences the Miracles of Friendship."

Paul P Harris

"Our success or failure will not depend upon the machinery of Rotary or its physical growth, but upon the extent to which Rotary's ideals or objectives are translated into positive, tangible results in personal, business, community, and international life. We shall be known by our works." — The Second Quarter Century, THE ROTARIAN, July 1930
